Mr. Billups' crossing signal embodies two primary appeals to the human senses, an appeal to the eyes thru the horrible skull and cross bones which light up at the approach of a train, and an appeal to the ears thru the piercing notes of a powerful siren whose voice is raised simultaneously with the lighting of the neon signals. The practicability of this device, which has been changed materially since the first model was built has been tested and found satisfactory by the officials concerned. The steel frame which has a factor of safety far greater than a laymen would specify is being built

Second Battle of the Boulevard

At the March meeting, the city council, faced with what appeared to be nearly a one hundred percent petition requesting same, passed an ordinance changing the name of College Boulevard to Walthall Boulevard in honor of General E. C. Walthall who once occupied the home now owned and occupied by Mrs. Mollie Tompkins. This petition was secured primarily thru the efforts of Mrs. Fannie Morrison, long an exponent of the martyred Confederacy. At this meeting, it developed that Will Hoffa already had a Walthall Street in one of his subdivisions. Mr. Hoffa, always chivalrous, and not desiring any controversy with anybody, much less with his old schoolmate and neighbor, "Miss" Fannie, gallantly requested the council to change the name of his street to Robert E. Lee Street, perpetuating the Confederate sentiment, if by another name. This action too was taken by the council. Thus, the council went up the hill.

Hardly had the news reached College Boulevard by grapevine before hell popped. There were those there who while honoring and revering General Walthall, and not wishing to take a whit from his glory, felt that, as the street had been named for the old Grenada College, and as the College antedated General Walthall, its name should remain College Boulevard. The leaders of this school of thought were Mesdames Sam Simmons, Sr., and H. L. Honeycutt. These ladies drew up - or caused to be drawn up - petitions for those who signed neither way, as well as for those who wished to recant, retract and reconsider. This petition, when completed, appeared to indicate almost as great a sentiment AGAINST changing the name, as the previous petition had indicated a sentiment FOR changing the name.

Last Monday night at the regular April council meeting, "Miss" Fannie Morrison, defender of the change, occupied one of the front seats on the west side of the hall, while "Miss" Fannie Simmons, bolstered by Sam and by Mr. and Mrs. Honeycutt occupied front positions in the east side of the hall, the latter being advocates of a re-change. The first named "Miss" Fannie led off with a beautiful tribute to the gallant general, the brilliant senator and the peerless orator, Walthall, and closed by thanking the council for the March change. She added some sentiment about how she loved her neighbors and wished peace and tranquillity, tho, perhaps, not in those identical words. The second named "Miss" Fannie led off with similar sentiments of love of neighbors and desire for peace and tranquillity, and paid almost as beautiful a tribute to the gallant general, the brilliant senator and the peerless orator as did the first named "Miss" Fannie. For the practical reasons that abundant confusion would result from a change in the name of her street, as well for sentimental reasons connected with the long and useful career of Grenada College, and fortified with a counter petition bearing a majority of the residents' names, she requested that the council rescind its former action and restore to the then Walthall Blvd. its original name, "College Blvd". The second named "Miss" Fannie cited sundry citizens whom Grenada wished to honor had NEW streets named after them, rather than re-name the streets on which they lived.

The mayor and the members of the council began to compare the original petition - asking for the change - with the second petition - asking for a change "back" - and they discovered a number of fence riders, that is individuals who, rather than incur enmity of either side, cautiously signed BOTH petitions. Inasmuch as the names of these individuals are in the imperishable records of the City of Grenada, and as most of them are paid-up subscribers, we decline to list them in print. One's last will and testament supplants all wills and testaments of earlier date, and, therefore, the fence-riders were counted AGAINST as such was their last expressed sentiment.

Faced with this array of signatures - however secured - of property owners along the College-Walthall Blvd., and finding that a majority had signed, the board rescinded its former action. Thus the board went down the hill it had climbed so painfully a month previous.

The third battle of the Boulevard is scheduled to be on the night of the first Monday in May, 1940. In the meantime, if "Miss" Fannie Morrison asks where I am, I have gone to Haiti, and John Bradley left Monday night with me.

Commending the Supervisors

The supervisors this week passed an order that will do away with promiscuous purchases against the county's credit.

The supervisors want to be good fellows, of course, and please everyone, and buy everything that anyone wants to sell at a good price - but, the supervisors are governed by the law. The law indicates what is a legitimate charge against the county and also indicates what officers have a right to purchase things on the county's credit, as well as indicates the manner and method of presenting accounts.

The supervisors, by their action do not impugn the honesty of any creditor, nor do they heap criticism on any purchaser, but they merely indicate that, in the future, the law will govern in matters of buying on the county's credit. This is as it should be, for the supervisors are not spending THEIR own money, but OUR money, the hard earned tax money.

Grenada County's business is perhaps the biggest business in the entire county. It is the business of all of us. That the supervisors propose to conduct this large business in a more business like manner speaks well for the supervisors.

Goodbye Buses

The "average" man, if there is such a creature, will receive a body blow if the bill to tax bus companies $50.00 per mile in addition to other taxes passes, as is likely during the dog days of the session now at hand.

The "average" man is the fellow who flags the bus down about Riverdale or Torrance, comes to town at a convenient hour, buys some merchandise and returns home the same day. He can now ride for less than two cents a mile. From now on, if this bill passes, he will stay at home, or will be forced to hire a car - at three times the cost of bus travel.

The super-average man gets on the Panama or the Cannon Ball and rides to Chicago, and the sub-average man walks. It is the average man who will suffer if bus travel is curtailed (or eliminated, which it will be if such punitive taxes are imposed).

Oh, me.

Congratulations, Lonzo

At long last, Alonzo Billups' grade-crossing warning signal, a shrieking, horrible looking affair which should arrest the attention of the motorists and cause them to stop, will be erected by the State Highway Department at Bursi's crossing on Highway No. 7.

Alonzo has "something", we believe, in this signal apparatus upon which he has devoted years of effort and energy. T. J. Lowry, the new highway commissioner, has given him whole-hearted cooperation and has been of inestimable assistance insofar as the highway department is concerned. Wick Ransom has spent his time, money, energy and influence in helping put this signal across and to him, Mr. Billups gives unstinted praise.

We believe we voice the sentiment of Grenada in congratulating Mr. Billups upon the taking of the very first step - that is, having one signal actually erected for long ladder of success.

Gone Wild

If the bill which recently passed the State Senate and is now before the House committee for recommendation, a bill which imposes a ten percent tax upon the gross receipts of privately owned power companies and water companies, was designed to bankrupt these companies, which already pay large taxes, it will be one hundred percent effective. If, however, it was designed to produce revenue, it will be a flop, for taxes cannot be gathered from companies which have Gone With The Wind.

No legitimate business can pay ten percent of its gross intake as taxes and continue to exist. No legitimate business can pay ten percent of its intake as taxes and pay dividends to its stockholders or interest on its bonds.

If this bill passes, the "average man" for whom Governor Johnson and Mr. Tom Hed Man have shed so many scalding tears will eventually see his power stock continue downward until it will be valueless.

No one can justly accuse us of being a lover of the power trust, but this bill is the most preposterous piece of proposed legislation we ever heard of.

Goodbye stockholders, goodbye "average man".

Asbestos Newsprint

There is a general expectancy among our readers that something real hot is going to come out in this newspaper.

Under certain conditions, there is going to be plenty of hot stuff published herein.

However, if it is to be hot at all, it is going to be nearly as hot as the hinges of hell, and, if printed on ordinary newsprint, the papers would burn from spontaneous combustion, and would also burn large holes in the mail sacks.

Therefore, we have ordered some asbestos paper, and until the shipment arrives, we will reserve the heat.

Flower Vandals

Columbians are complaining about people going around pulling and stealing flowers at night.

It is reprehensible practice and the guilty parties ought to feel the full force of the law.

Residents spend time and patience in growing beautiful flowers and it is exasperating when some one comes along and destroys them.

The guilty parties are truly vandals and they ought to be punished.

If the practice keeps up, someone is going to offer a reward for the arrest and conviction of the culprits. —Columbus Commercial-Dispatch

Where Columbus is talking about offering rewards for conviction of these vandals, Ralph Semmes of Grenada has already offered $25.00 reward.

Watch for the Snakes

This session of the legislature has reached the stage that a crap game reaches early in the morning, everybody tired, everyone half groggy and dontgiveadamnitive, when anything can happen, and probably will happen. "Oh", says the craps shooter, "I am tired and sleepy. Shoot the wad! Just as well be broke as have only fifteen dollars".

The session has reached the stage where the snakes will begin to crawl. The legislators want to get home. They are tired of bickering. Snaky measures which, at the first of the session, would have received careful scrutiny and would have been killed, will be passed with little debate. Meritorious measures will be killed quite as readily.

Be on guard, boys, even if you are tired. Anything may happen.

Gone With the Wind: sugar on my tongue.

Why not join the American Legion

(An Editorial)

This page is dedicated to The American Legion, and particularly to Grenada Post Number 35.

The Legion is making a concerted drive for new members. Mississippi has led the parade at the National Convention three times, hand running and wants to lead it again. We want to help.

It is our purpose to continue the publication of the illustrated points in the American Legion's basic principles, the first of which is published on this page.

It is our purpose to help Grenada Post in its effort to secure more members for this post, and we will thereby be helping Mississippi lead again.

Every ex-service man should be a member of his nearest post. Every ex-service man in Grenada county should be a member of Grenada post.

We have been told that, as a rule, the men whom the Legion's efforts have helped most are, more often than not, not even members of the Legion. Certainly these boys could show their gratitude for the Legion's work for them in no better way than by allying themselves with the Legion.

The Legion officials, both local, state and national, work ceaselessly for the welfare of ex-service men, whether members of the Legion or not. The bonus was a direct result of Legion effort. Pensions for the disabled, hospitals for the sick, markers for the graves, are but a few things that the American Legion has accomplished for ex-service men, irrespective of Legion affiliation.

The work for the men has not been finished. Each of us is getting older every day. The death and disability rate among this group is rising rapidly. There is more and more need for a strong, unified group of capable men to assist in and direct the work designed to help ex-service men.

Join the Legion, boys. Show your appreciation for its efforts in your behalf and in behalf of your disabled buddies. Join today.

Commander Odom Starts Annual Legion Drive

A plan to all local World War Veterans to let The American Legion membership lapel button symbolize their pride in their service to their country in its time of need, was made today by Commander Odom of Post No. 35 here, in a stirring statement launching the post annual cleanup drive.

The Legion button, Commander J. L. Odom pointed out, is a public identification of a patriot.

Commander Odom's statement follows:

"Is there any veteran of the World War so poor in spirit and patriotism that he is not proud of the part he played in the greatest of all military struggles since history began?

"Have not we veterans a justified pride in our service. If any man were to assert that we had not played our part as men and Americans, how quickly would we resent it?

"The American Legion offers the best opportunity for you, Comrade, to testify to the World of your loyalty in War and your determination to give continued service in peace. The lapel button of the Legion is a notice to all that you failed not when your country called, and that you still subscribe to the patriotism and Americanism for which the Legion stands.

"Without the Legion button, the service man has no method of differentiating himself from the thousands who did not go. He may have served, but no one knows it. And, the world finds it easy and convenient to forget.

"With the Legion button, you quietly but effectively identify yourself as one of America's Veterans and as an active participant in the work of a patriotic society which is dedicated to the preservation of American principles.

"You place yourself as both a wartime and peace-time patriot and true American.

"Be proud you CAN join The American Legion. Hundreds of thousands of young men would rejoice indeed if their lives could so be made over that the Legion might be open to them. Those who did serve but who have not, up to now, come into the Legion, are sending in their applications by the thousands. They are proud they answered the call. They want the world to know it.

"The Legion's great days are ahead. Its principles, calling for vigorous peace-time service, command it to all. It is far better to be in the Legion than to explain why you are not. The Legion invites you to comradeships. Be one of the active Legionnaires of your community. JOIN UP!

Welcome to the mailing is extended to Mrs. Edrie Bowen of Tupelo. She is daughter of Mr. Guy Fite, who authorized us to send her the GCW a year.

Mr. Ford told me he was going to make an appointment in the post office this Spring. Spring arrived March 22 and leaves June 22, and so it will be settled one way or another before June 22.

To uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States of America

—From the Preamble to the Constitution of The American Legion

Membership in The American Legion is open to honorably discharged veterans of the World War. By associating in The American Legion, veterans can give meaning to their desire to support the first principle of the Preamble.

Because of our maturity and experience we realize what can happen in countries where the fundamental law of the land is overthrown by force or circumvented by expediency. We know our National Constitution was produced by the supreme efforts of men inspired. It has been flexible enough to serve our people for 150 years and seems destined to serve our people as long as time endures.

The Constitution is our guarantee of liberty, freedom, and democracy. It is older than the fundamental law of any other modern nation. It has stood the test of time. We are proud as citizens and Legionnaires to reaffirm our allegiance to it every time we open a Legion meeting.

Private Initiative:

Electric Industry Pioneered In Nation's Economic Development

Story of Electricity and Private Enterprise is Intriguing Study to Moderns Who Enjoy Vast Benefits

Electricity has been known to mankind for many hundreds of years, despite the popular fallacy that it was Benjamin Franklin who first ran across this power which has proven so beneficial to modern life. History tells us that a wise Greek named Thales discovered, some 600 years before Christ, that amber rubbed vigorously would attract various light objects. About the time of Sir Francis Drake, Gilbert named this mysterious force "Vis Electrica." Walter Charleston first called it "Electricity" in 1650, according to an article in Nation's Business. A glance through the story of Electricity is interesting and fascinating to moderns who enjoy its ever-increasing benefits.

Franklin Long Ignored

Although Benjamin Franklin is said to have killed a wild turkey by electric shock, then roasted it over a fire kindled with his "Electric Bottle," people of his day knew or cared little about this mysterious force. True, it eventually operated the electric telegraph, but few people understood that.

It was not until 1876 that Electricity made its bow to the common people. An electric dynamo at the Philadelphia Centennial Exposition provided current for an arc light in Machinery Hall, but this was regarded as "impractical" and dangerous foolishness by most of the visitors who saw it.

Three years later, Thomas A. Edison realized that incandescent lighting was possible after conducting an experiment whereby a carbonized cotton thread glowed for 40 hours without pause. The famed inventor organized the Edison Electric Illuminating Company in New York City in 1882, to furnish electric service to incandescent bulbs for 59 bulbs—an event which marked the birth of the Electric Power Industry.

Public Scoffed at Idea

Edison's company was far from popular at first. Pavements frequently became "electrified," causing horse and men to flee in panic. Service was sporadic, and the wits of that time had a subject for jokes and quips as popular as "Gone With The Wind" of today. Be that as it may, Edison's company has grown into an industry with a $13,000,000,000 investment, owned by millions of thrifty men and women, and serving more than 25,000,000 American customers.

Today, thanks to private initiative, courage and enterprise, Electric Rates have been consistently reduced and service constantly improved. In fact, so dependable has service become today that its slightest failure occasions front page headlines and special radio bulletins. Because it is constantly on the job at all times, modern Americans enjoy convenience, service and better living far beyond the dreams of generations only once removed.

Didn't "Just Happen"

Today, the strength of 48,000,000 horsepower flows through interconnected transmission lines to do your bidding at the flip of a switch. This miracle of service and dependability did not "just happen." It was achieved by men of courage and vision, whose faith never faltered in persuading friends at first, then acquaintances and strangers to invest their hard-earned savings to develop this dream of progress. Americans enjoy Electric Service today through the efforts of these men who were forced to rely upon their own initiative and ability, and who had no government subsidy or public grant to assist them.

Because of these men—private individuals—manufacturing and industrial tasks have been lightened and hours shortened. Undreamed progress has been achieved in every phase of modern living, be it commercial, industrial or home classification. The homemaker has at her beck and call more than 400 Electric Appliance Servants to release her from drudgery, unnecessary toil and backbreaking tasks so common a few years ago.

Electricity Is Cheap

All this and more has been accomplished by electricity, and the private companies who make and distribute it have given it to consumers at a price less than we annually pay for cigarettes or cosmetics. Small wonder many far-minded citizens resent unreasonable political attacks made against this industry which has so radically reduced its prices and improved its service throughout its history.

Today, thousands upon thousands of homemakers are realizing that "Electricity Is Cheap" when cost is weighed against the innumerable services which Electricity offers even the most humble home.

In no other field has private enterprise produced greater benefits than in the field of Electric Service. In a few short decades, it has given to America a standard of living that is the envy of the rest of the civilized world, and in so doing, has contributed to the economic welfare substantially with payrolls and tax payments which run into the billions of dollars.

Truly, the private electric industry has been vastly beneficial to America!

Preamble to the Constitution of The American Legion

For God and Country, we associate ourselves together for the following purposes:

To uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States of America;

To maintain law and order;

To foster and perpetuate a one hundred per cent Americanism;

To preserve the memories and incidents of our association in the Great War;

To inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the community, state, and nation;

To combat the autocracy of both the classes and the masses;

To make right the master of might;

To promote peace and good will on earth;

To safeguard and transmit to posterity the principles of justice, freedom, and democracy;

To consecrate and sanctify our comradeship by our devotion to mutual helpfulness.

Hate to Get Up in the Morning?

Do Your Friends Call You Lazy?

Some people hate to get up in the morning, feel lazy all day, drabby, achy, generally no account. This lack of energy may not be caused by the weather. Often this condition is caused by poor elimination which is probably due to an unbalanced diet, lack of green foods during the winter, not enough exercise, and after effects of winter colds. If you are constipated and bilious due to these causes and there is no organic trouble we urge that you try Nash's C. & L. Tonic and Laxative today.

No doubt many persons right here in your own community have received great relief from temporary constipation, mild forms of biliousness and the most prevalent type of Malaria by the use of Nash's C. & L.

Mr. Nash, who has been manufacturing drugs and filling prescriptions for forty years, places his personal guarantee on every bottle sold. He says, "Try Nash's C. & L. one week. If you are not satisfied your druggist is authorized to refund every cent you paid. I don't want your money if my medicine doesn't help you." Be sure to get Nash's C. & L. Price 50c per bottle.

For sale by all good Drug Stores and featured by Second Class Drug Store.

Joe Louis knocked Pay Check's meal ticket out of him in less than two rounds. The most brutal of the two powerful brutes subdued the less powerful of the two brutes.

The census takers are going to ask a lot of damn fool questions that will incline us to give damn fool answers. But since the facts they compile are going to be of great value to every American, let's be as pleasant and helpful as possible when we are called on. Anyway you don't get near as exhausted as the census worker, just think how many questions he has to ask.

Homier Williams opens his new Pix Theatre with "The House of Seven Gables" by Nathaniel Hawthorne, who is a master of mood, of atmosphere, of phrases, of words. In "The House of Seven Gables" a man is cursed by a reputed New England wizard, "God will give him blood to drink." Years later a descendant is found dead with a blood stain on his linen as though spilled from his lips. So much for the story, let's pack the new theatre, and see a show well worth remembering, see unrolled the undying romance of a woman, the everlasting hatred of a man.

Cora Mullin Ann Smallwood, and Hector Lane have gone south of the border, down Mexico way. Buddie Boy must be taking the trip for his health, or for the scenery. Surely he isn't going just to be near Cora.

There were no marriages here in Grenada this week, shot gun or otherwise. That's hard to believe, maybe this hot weather has run the love bug in his den.

Thomas E. Dewey is the "boy hero," "crime busting" candidate for the current Republican Presidential nomination now receiving such resounding support from the press. The mere fact that he busted up a lot of crime rings by no means qualifies him to lead a great nation like the United States he has no proven executive ability. Oh well, there is no use going into that, a Republican candidate won't get elected anyway. They stand about as much chance as a snow ball in hades.

In a recent survey to determine the needs of an average wage earner's family in representative cities throughout the nation, the U. S. Department of Labor finds that on a level of "basic maintenance the cost of electricity is only one per cent of the total expenditure." Electricity is cheap, just think what it does for you for one per cent of your income.

Mississippi is becoming more and more a cattle raising state. The value of livestock in Mississippi is 990,007,350; the income from them 5 years ago was $13,552,000, today it is $32,473,000 an income two and one half times greater.

The fish pool in the City Square has been cleaned out. If you happened to have seen it before it was cleaned go and look at it now.

Since it is now fit for the fish to live in, let's keep it so. If you smoke cigars or cigarettes for goodness sake don't throw them in the water and if you chew tobacco or dip snuff for the devil's sake don't spit the slime in with the fish.

While over in the swamp, Clarksdale, I saw my friend Joe Steele. And am glad to report that he is still in robust health, weighing 180. He is also doing good financially. He is managing an electric appliance store, and is doing a thriving business. Good luck, Joe.
